

- (1) The largest jellyfish in the world is called the lion's mane jellyfish. It lives in parts of the ocean where the water is very cold. The biggest one ever found was around 37 meters long. Because of its size, the lion's mane jellyfish cannot move very fast. It gets food by catching fish and other jellyfish that come close to it.

Q. What is one thing we learn about the lion's mane jellyfish?

- | | |
|-----------------------------------|------------------------------------|
| 1 It can become very big in size. | 2 It can move very quickly. |
| 3 It does not like cold water. | 4 It does not eat other jellyfish. |
